HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several part of the West Indies and in the Seuthern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming hir cumstances.

their lives when in the most alarming air.
cumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than calumns of pompous eulogy lounded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result firm extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the pravalence of our billous fevera, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

Public Improvement. NEW TURNPIAGE TO WILET'S.

Mr. Editor,

I am p'eased to find that the Com ners are about running a straight line to designate the route of the New Turnpike to Wiley's. The most important reasons may be given for this measure. Independently of its being the nearest, and there being no villages or places requiring a deviation, it is said that it will occupy a country abounding in all the necessaries of stone, gravel, &c. for the construction of the road. But a more argent reason remains: It is to be ered that our neighbors of Geo Town are pressing a read to the same point; and it is said will accomplish it in a distance of not exceeding 12 miles to their town. Il so, Alexandria has not an inch to spare. It is now pretty generally believed that a direct route is the most economical in the end. The an cients made all their celebrated highway on a direct line; and the moderns need no better wisdom, in this particular, than that which has stood the test of admiring

This turnpike, when completed, will penetrate into an interesting portion of our upper country, where, in a short time, "every rood of soil will maintain its man." Of the benefits and profits of turnpikes, the Little River Turnpike is becoming a case in point. I much doubt whether, in ten years from now, better stock will be found in the union. Could our Banks do better than to lend their money to works of this kind?-As the prosperity of the landed interest increases, and the ready access to market is made more perfect, so must the town flourish, and with it the monied institu tions.

As to the idea of the new turnpike's making its way to town through Kingstreet-I cannot see the propriety of give ing a monopoly to any particular street, in the direction of works which are for the general benefit. If common justice is considered, surely King-street has already an unusual share of prosperity and needs no immediate aid. Wherever there is a market, commerce will find it out, although she should traverse the most intricate ways in order to effect it.

A Friend to all uneful improvements.

The debate of yesterday left on our minds the impression of great respect for the talents now composing the representative body-it was, in fact, a continued display of ability and elequence. The debate is not terminated, though it appears to us so much light was shed upon the question yesterday, that it will not be much further prolonged. The questions debated are, first, the legality of the warrant issued in the first instance and secondly, the power of the house to pursue with punishment (and of course the power to recognize) any contempt committed beyond the walls of the souse. On these questions, there is so great diversity of opinion, as to render it a matter of doubt how the latter will be Intelligencer. decided.

The last that embarked were defeated by a superior force; but those troops who then compelled their fellows to embark, now learn that not one of those who went re main alive, and they consider going to America, as going to be alaughtered: and the attempt has not been again made in that way. Lately, resert was had to the expedient of obtaining 400 officers, who were intended to serve under Gen. Morille, on Terra Firma. The inspector of the army was required to make such a draft, and he proceeded but with-out effect. SURPENDER OF AMELIA ISLAND. By the Commodore Porter we learn, that the United States' corvette John Adams, commodore Henley, brige Enter-prize and Saranac, and Schouner Lynx, ser Lynx, with one gun boat, arrived off Amelia la-land on the 13th ult. On the 22d comnodore Aury was summoned, in the name of the United States, to surrender the island to the United States' force ordered there for that purpose, which summons was complied with on the 93d, when 250 United States' troops from Point Petre took possession of the island. A messenger to Washington, dispatched by con dore Aury, arrived in the Con Porter, and furnishes a copy of the following document:

The answer of general Aury to a letter from the American officers, demanding the surrender of Fernandina. H. Q. Fernandina, Dec. 22, 1817. GENTLEMEN,-I have received your official letter of this day, by which, in the name of the government of the United States, you summon us to evacuate this place, with the troops under my com-mand, as soon as it will be convenient, as possession thereof is to be taken by the tain conditions specified in your said let- ly scalded as above. On the first of Feb

ing and some producing. You may | nevertheless, intimated, that in case of of the United States.

Allow me to observe to you. dina by the force of our arms, we enter

The boundaries between the Floridas and the United States having been fairly ettled on the 27th October, 1795, we are at a less how to ascertain your anthority to interfere in our internal concerns.

Our surprise increases when we reflect rised by the government of a people who, in this respect, glory in the rights of na-tions, whether great or small, and who, no doubt, sympathise with their southern no doubt, sympathise with their southern brethern in the struggle for liberty and independence, in which they are engaged,

On the other hand, you promise to hold sacred such of our property as unquestion-ally belongs to our citizens. Who is to be the judge in that case? The United States? They can by no means claim any kind of jurisdiction, from the source of the river St. Marys, down to the ocean, on this side the centre of the channel .-We entertain too much veneration to be lieve for a single moment that you (sup-posed already in possession of this island which has never been ceded by the king in, or by its inhabitants, to the ited States) can bring with you a connetent tribunal to decide upon this que ion. The only law you can adduce in your behalf is that of force, which always is repugnant to a republican government and to the principles of a just and impa: tial nature. The same observation may be applied to your interference for the property of the inhabitants, which we have always respected and considered as sacred.

You order us, also, as if we were sul jects of your government, to leave behind, when Fernandina is evacuated, all the public property that was found at its sur-render. This demard is directly contrary to the public rights, by which public property captured from the enemy is a-vowedly that of the captors, when not otherwise scipulated. Are you acting in the name of the king of Spain or of his allies? As we consider the people of the United States to be unques the only free people on the surface of the ready arrived to such a point of degrada tion. Otherwise, your demand is inad-missible and unjustifiable in the eyes of the world; and it we must submit to it,

Permit me, therefore, gentlemen, to request you to lay before the President of may be duly considered. We have read his excellency's Message at the opening of Congress with the utmost concerr, and have concluded that the political situation of this republic has been greatly misre presented in the United States, shrough the intrinues of our enemies. We have the intrigues of our enemies. We have certainly a right to be heard: for which purpose I shall have the honor of forwarding to your government the necessary documents. If you are not disposed to let the thing remain in statu quo until the President's further determination be known, I am authorised to assure y that we respect and esteem too highly the people of the United States to carry

I have the honor to remain, with the highest consideration, gentlemen, yours S. L. Holmes, Secretary.

From the Connecticut Courant. CHEAP METHOD OF PATTERING CATTLE. Communicated by Mr. Nothan Langdon, of Litchfield

There is one way to latten Cattle, in the absence of the common means, scarce ly interior to the best, as the following instances will prove. I fatted an or and a three year old heifer, the winter past, without either corn or potatoes, for less expence than that of common keeping, by a preparation of cut straw, &c as lows-I beiled about two quarts of flax-seed, and sprinkled it on to cut straw, which had been previously scalded and easoned with salt, together with some oil cake and oatmeal, working them to-gether in a tub with a short pitchfork, till he whole became an oily much. I fattened the heifer first. She was of the common size, and in good order to winter.—
I gave her about three pecks, which ste ate voraciously, and in the course of four days, when the seed was gone, she was visibly altered. I ted her regularly in this way about two months, in which time she had eaten about one bushel of boiled flaxseed, with the other ingredients in proportion, when she was butchored — She weighed 534 pounds, 84 of which was tallow. She would not have sold, before fattening, for more than 16 dollars sold two quarters of her for $18 13she cost me not more than $10, exclusive of the bay she ate, which was chiefto divert attention from the real evils that affect the country. F-on the Connecticut Courant. THE BRIGG REMARKES.

In the excellent little tract of Dr. Cotton Mather, entitled, " Essays to o Good," the venerable author lays lown for himself the following rule in regard to his treatment of children - I will never use corporal punishment except it be for an afrocious crime, or for a smaller fault obsti-nately persisted ip." A maxim which leserves to be written in golden characters, or rather, and far better, to be engraven upon the hearts of parents, and instructors of scho is it at all inconsistent with the maxim in Holy Writ, "He that spareth the rod, hateth his soul." For by no fair interpretation can this last be made to mean, that the discipline of the rod is necessary in any cases other than the aforementioned.

Obedience is the first lesson to be inculcated upon childhood. Ere it can discern between good and evil, the child should be taught to obey .-Then it is that the task is compara-tively easy, and may be effected by a small measure of prudent enforcement. No restraint, however, should be im-posed upon childhood, but such as is salutary, and of obvious necessity.— All and every needless restraint is tyrannous in its nature, and hurtful in its consequences. The child should be habituated to passive obedience, and at the same time be permitted to enjoy freedom of action in things in-different;—" to speak as a child, to act as a child," to be lively and play-some as a child. One, whose childhood is closely held in trammels, a hose merely childish things incur rebukes and frowns, is full likely to make a licentious use of freedom when it arrives, or else to be a mopus all the days of his life.

Children should be carefully guarded against every species of useless

vexation. " Provoke not your children to anger, least they be discouraged." Lay on them, none but necessary and wholesome restrictions. Never cross them for the mere sake of shewing your authority. Reclaim with a lenent hand their involuntary errors. Mark not against them with a severe eye, their trival aberrations. Be no ess ready to commend their well doing, than to blame them for doing ill. Otherwise, the obedience paid you will be uncheerful, constrained, and slavish. If you are of a faultfinding temper, you will occasion the very faults you seek after. Your children, out of despair of pleasing you, will become regardless both of your pleasure and displeasure, except in so far as they are influenced by servile fear. As to stubbornness, or obstinate disobedience, "this kind goeth not out," but by severe discipline. It must be mastered by blows, if nothing else will do, and the earlier the better. But for the rest, mild and persuasive methods are far preferable. Over young minds, the law of love might be made to have a much more powerful influence than penal law. Much more easily are they drawn and guided by their affections. than driven by their fears ; the tener of the former being spontaneous, steady and uniform; while the latter operate only by occasional excitement.

You have the fastest hold of the child that you hold by " the chords of love." By those chords you can draw him with ease. Delighting to lease, and of course, dreading to offend you, it is in your power to im-print in his mind indelible characters to weed out his wayward propensities; to awaken his emulation; to stigula e his industry; and to mould him to sentiments and habits preparatory to excellence in after life. But fear alone is an unuatural and odious tie, which the child is ever desirous to break loose from. It stimulates indeed, but not in the manner to produce those ingenuous sentiments and feelings which are the foundation

Experience abundantly evinces, hat infamous punishment has rather pernicious, than a salutary effect upon the minds of full grown persons. Few culprits, if any, were ever made etter by means of the whipping post of the stocks, or by cropping their ars or by infixing a brand of infamy on the forehead or hand, Instead being led to amendment by these ans, they generally are made the re desperate and abandoned, by son that they view their characters irretrievably lost. So that, after ing gone through one of these orals of shame, they ever after are erly shameless. Now it should be remembered, that ldren are as men and women in miture : possessed of the like passions I particularly of the like feelings nor and disgrace. Moreover in dren the most promising, these ings are the most acute. They e a keen sensibility to shame, reof a good use may be made by nt management; but if this senlity be put to hard proof, and that ently, it becomes blunted, and minds become callous. And s that is lost to shame, and to all respect, is in peculiar danger of nd besides, "none are more un iful and cruel than those who had on bred up under the cruelest disciwhich seldom fails to blunt eir feelings, and produce hardness heart and ferociousness of temper." ie cruelest of slave drivers, are e that bad been bred slaves, and e daily felt the smart of the lash. nd, by parity of reason, children that bred up under parents or governwho carry punishment beyond the nds of kind correction into those vengeance, and who delight to inct such punishment as attaches inmy, most needs possess more than common measure of native amiability, if in the end they turn out sweet tempered, humane, and of a nice sense

I will conclude with the words e great Locke :- " To break the pirit of children by too severe usage, to them a greater injury than the posite extreme of indulgence; for re is more hope, that a wild andisiplined character will become orderly han of raising up one made abject

DUTCH SIMPLICITY.

It is related, that as the marquis of Spinoli, and the President Richardot, were going to the Hague in 1606, in order to acgociate the first truce enered into by Spain with the Dutch, they saw on their way eight or nine persons stepping out of a little boat nd seating themselves upon the grass, where they made a frugal repast upon bread and cheese and beer; each carrying his own provisions. The Spanish ambassadors asked a peasant, who were those travellers? the peasant answered; they are the deputies of the States, our lords and masters. Upon which the Ambassador cried out, these people we shall never be able to conquer; we must e'en make peace with them. To the Flour and Rice Millers OF THE UNITED STATES. OF THE UNITED STATES.

CENTLEMEN,—It appears that many have refused to pay for license to use my improvements in the art of manufacturing flour, and in lessening the labor in rice mills, waiting the decision of the United States' courts; while many others have paid freely the sums I de manded for my license; there can exist no reason why some should pay and o thers be exempt. There has already beer a sufficient number of decisions establish ing the law, that each infringer is liable to pay treble my actual damages, which cannot be rated at less than the value of the use of my property during the in-fringement. I have expended the great-est part of a long, arduous, and inuctati-gable life in study and exertions to invent and introduce into useful operation several important and highly useful improvements, from which great benefits are derived to the users, and I could have put in operation many more equally useful but was prevented by the unjustifiable opposition, wasting the profits of those in operation, which I had intended to apply to put others in operation which I had discovered; but which now lay dormant, to my great mortification and the public injury. I come into the courts claiming remuneration for my time and labor-the great expenses that I have incurre in advertising repeatedly over the United States, and in my agents traveiling for many years to make the utility of the improvements known, and to instruct millwrights to make, and millers to use them. The law coatemplates that I shall receive ample remuneration, and by it I was encouraged to risk the great expenses. I have repeatedly published that the price of my license for the remainder of the term should be, the full price of the labor and boarding saved by the use of my improvements in one year only, with lawful interest until pad; but to those who infringed my rights, and re-lused to pay when called on, I would, beginning with the year ending January 22, 1813, count the sum saved in labor and boarding during the last year (equal to the first price) as a new sum become due, and running on interest also; and so on, the 22d day of January in each and every year thereafter a new sum saved in labor and boarding becomes due and runs on interest until license be pur chased, demanding the interest only all these sums, leaving the principal in Sacking Bottoms, at 18s. I can receive of them to meet the ex penses which they have compelled me to ftuSt terms on which my agents are instructed to grant licenses, and they are instructed to institute suits against all infringers to institute suits against all infringers without giving them another call.

Those who wish to purchase licenses may apply to John Love, esq. Buckland, Prince William county, or to capt. John Moody, Richmond, Va.

OLIVER EVANS.

Notz.—Persons using Mt. Evans' improvements, or parts of them unpaid for, will be sued if they do not discharge the claim on application. Mr. William H. Alexander has, under my authority from Mr. Evans, been empowered to rethe claim on application. Mr. William H. Alexander has, under my authority from Mr. Evans, been empowered to receive payments and deliver licenses to use his improvements. Payments, therefore, matte to him, John Moody, or myself, will a one be valid, and save the expense at suit and treble damages to the defendants.

James Kennedy & Son. BOOKSELLERS. KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

ESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from Lee's Medicine Store, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDI-CINES: Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozen

Which have within sixteen years pas cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every se tuation, of various divigerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstrucions or foulness in the stomach and bow

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so com nonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being uited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly ir-nocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant ady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stemach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal dis orders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross hu mours and eruptions, feverish and bilion complaints, and are the safest and mild est purgative that can be used on any Description of Worms, and the sympres or large round worm; the Ascaricult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worm are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted guns itching in the nese, and about the seat convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grind ing of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and some times veracious; purging with slimy and fettid stools; vaniting, large and hard feetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stoowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy suntenance, and sometimes the face bloaad and flushed Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate re-Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given secs sionally during the warm season, will eftectually prevent "the vomiting and pur-ging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our catizens. It is likewise the mildest and most er-rrain remedy known, and has restored to health an strength a great number when in an advanced stege of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment a such cases.

Children generally take this medicin with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Bestorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and care a Brison and Malionant Parts.

HAUN'S ANTI BILLIOUS PILLS Tills Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly graters to the inventor's feelings in several poly of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

and Middle States, Co.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming cir.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than co-lumns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously pro-posed as an infallible cure, but the invea-for has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for be lieving that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an intallible preventive; and further that in the earlier stages of those disease their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the pover of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age

They are excellently adapted to carroff superfluous bile and prevent its me bid secretions—to restore and amend appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for re moving habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disor-ders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elizir.

A sovereign remedy for colds, obetinate coughs, asthme, a re illicats, ca-tarn's, and approaching consemptions.— To parents who have callden afficied covery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, cheeks the progress, and in a short time entirely oves the most cruel disorders to which fectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative. Is recommended as an invalvable me-dicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders the stomach and Consumptions Lowness of spirits Loss of appetite Indigestion Melancholy Hysteric'l affection Gout in the stomach Inward weaknesses Pains in the limbs and debility Relaxations, etc.
